

Trunities

The concept "Trunities" comes from community planning. The English version is made of words "True" and "Communities". It is used in various virtual-commercial domains for different purposes. The original version was first used in 2002 in the official website of Vario Burnos. The Lithuanian version of "Tikruomenės" is made of words "Tikros" and "Bendruomenės". This concept might be explored as an effort to emphasize the role of community in urban and cultural planning. It also offers a deeper understanding of the difference between the real and virtual social structure. It is clear that Trunities have become the most active source in the public sector. It contrasts to the term "human resources", which in the age of late capitalism has been turned into the most significant factor for space planning.
